

Franklin Loehr

Franklin Loehr, D.D. is Director of Research at the Religious Research Foundation of America in Grand Island, Florida. He began his research with past lives in the fifties and developed an approach which he calls Psychography. His best known book is The Power of Prayer on Plants, which was the outcome of years of research.

The Reverend Franklin Loehr, now director of research for the Religious Research Foundation, after a varied parish ministry, decided to put his earlier scientific training to religious use. Convinced that religion was selling itself short by not using the methods of science to gather facts to bolster its premises, Dr. Loehr now gives his time to performing and directing experiments that will add facts to faith.
