

Hundredth Monkey Effect

The hundredth monkey effect is a supposed phenomenon in which a learned behavior spreads instantaneously from one group of monkeys to all related monkeys once a critical number is reached. By generalization it means the instantaneous, mind to mind spreading of an idea or ability to the remainder of a population once a certain portion of that population has heard of the new idea or learned the new ability. This group behavior may be related to Swarm Behavior, Wikipedia↗.

Marketing has known for many decades that once a product and its marketing effort have reached 10% saturation or penetration it becomes self-propagating.

As everything is a manifestation of Mind or Consciousness we can view this phenomenon as a sympathetic resonance of Mind Force. Anyone who has experienced being in a full-blown out-of-control panic knows this is a real phenomenon. The Maharishi meditators have demonstrated this is real and reproducible. See their report here↗.

Rupert Sheldrake talks about this sympathetic resonance in his TEDx Talk.
