Schauberger

If the concept of 'culture' were to be defined naturalessquely then it should be interpreted as "the protection of Nature's pre-acting fundamental processes". This is only possible by taking care of what it is that is moved, for as mentioned earlier, naturalessque motion leads to the vivification of the life-carrier - water - and unnatural motion to its mortification, or its death and disappearance.
